THE PHILIPS REUNION.

To Mrs. Amanda Bingaman, of Lionville, Pa., and Joseph Philips, of Manayunk, Pa., and Mrs. Elizabeth P. Guest, of Pughtown, Pa., belongs the credit of first suggesting a reunion of the descendants of Joseph and Mary Philips. On Feb. 24, 1877, an informal meeting of members of the family was held at the house of Richard Denithorne, in Phoenixville, Pa. The following members of the family were present, viz: Hannah Eaches, Joseph Philips, Amanda Bingaman, Maggie Tustin, Sallie Fussell, Lizzie Brower, Fannie Harley, Emma Denithorne. Officers were appointed as follows:

President.....	Joseph Philips.....	Manayunk, Pa.
Vice President.....	John T. Eaches.....	Spring City, Pa.
Secretary.....	E. M. Denithorne.....	Phoenixville, Pa.
Treasurer	Amanda G. Jones.....	Reading, Pa.

It was decided to hold the reunion on May 30, at the Vincent Baptist Church. Committees to make preliminary arrangements were appointed, after which they adjourned to meet on April 28. The following circular was then printed and widely distributed:

“PHILIPS REUNION.

“The descendants of Joseph Philips, who came to this country from Wales in 1755, desire to have a meeting, that long-divided branches of the family may become acquainted, and thus cement the bonds that should ever join those of one blood. The Committee have planned a meeting to be held at the Vincent Baptist Church, in Chester County, Pennsylvania, on Wednesday, May 30, 1877. Your presence is most earnestly desired.”

COMMITTEE:

Rev. Enos M. Philips	Rockland, Wis.
John D. Philips	Malden, Ill.
Rev. Josiah Philips.....	North Wales, Pa.

P. Miles Frame.....	Chadd's Ford, Pa.
Rev. Josiah P. Tustin	Philadelphia, Pa.
Edwin Miles	Pittsburg, Pa.
Rev. Owen P. Eaches.....	Hightstown, N. J.
George W. Philips.....	Penningtonville, Pa.
Rev. Joshua L. Philips.....	Pittsburg, Pa.
Joseph O. Pyatt.....	Philadelphia, Pa.

On April 28th the committees appointed at the previous meeting met at the same place as before. The following members of the family were present, viz: Hannah Eaches, Joseph Philips, Amanda Bingaman, Maggie Tustin, Elizabeth Guest, Sallie Fussell, Lizzie Brower, Fannie Harley, Clara Miller, Josiah P. Eaches, Richard Denithorne, Emma Denithorne. Mr. and Mrs. German Dickinson, of West Pikeland, were also present, they having kindly consented to superintend the dinner at the reunion.

After hearing the reports of the committees and making the final arrangements, the meeting adjourned to meet at Vincent, May 30.

The day appointed for the reunion proved to be a delightful one, and during all the forenoon the members of the family poured in from near and far. After registering their names in the book prepared for that purpose, the members of the family spent the time in becoming acquainted with each other, and in social intercourse generally. Some strolled into the adjoining grave-yard, where lie Joseph and Mary Philips, the ancestors of this great family. At 11 o'clock the meeting was called to order in the church by Joseph Philips, of Manayunk. Hon. J. W. Philips, of St. Louis, Mo., moved that a committee on nominations be appointed, which was agreed to, and Rev. Joshua L. Philips, of Pittsburg, Pa., Rev. Reese W. Perkins, of Camden, N. J., and Mr. I. Jones Philips, of Philadelphia, Pa., were named. This committee retired, and during their deliberations that good old hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," was heartily sung, Miss Mary I. Still, of West Chester, Pa., being organist. And throughout the day the singing was excellent, being one of the most pleasing features of the meeting, and fully sustaining the reputation of the Philips family as great singers.

The committee on nominations then reported as follows:

President Lewis Philips East Nantmeal, Pa.

Vice Presidents—Isaac Philips, Sheakleyville, Pa.; Joseph E. Frame, Media, Pa.; Morgan Philips, Uwchlan, Pa.; Thomas Tustin, Chicago, Ill.; Jesse E. Philips, West Chester, Pa.; Wm. Work, Wampum, Pa.; Judge J. W. Philips, St. Louis, Mo.; Abram Still, West Chester, Pa.; Nelson Philips, Library, Pa.; Owen P. Miles, Mt. Carroll, Ill.; T. Taylor Douglass, Library, Pa.; Joseph P. Bingaman, Pittsburg, Pa.

Secretaries—Mary I. Still, West Chester, Pa., and Lottie E. Philips, Atglen, Pa.

Corresponding Secretary—Prof. G. M. Philips, West Chester, Pa.

Treasurer—Amanda G. Jones, Reading, Pa.

Finance Committee—Edwin Miles, Pittsburg, Pa.; John R. Bingaman, Altoona, Pa.; John T. Eaches, Spring City, Pa.; Isaac C. Philips, Atglen, Pa.; Thomas J. Hoskinson, Philadelphia, Pa.

Enrollment Committee—Joseph Philips, Manayunk, Pa.; Mary S. Jones, Reading, Pa.; Sallie Brenholtz, Reading, Pa.

The report of the committee was accepted and the nominations ratified by the unanimous voice of the meeting.

An earnest and eloquent prayer was then offered by Rev. Josiah Tustin, D. D., of Philadelphia. After which Lewis Philips, President, made a short address of welcome to the assemblage, thanking them for the honor conferred upon him, and urging sociability among the members of the family.

“The Family Gathering,” a beautiful hymn, both the words and music of which were composed expressly for the occasion, the former by Rev. T. L. Bailey, the latter by Prof. John R. Sweeney, was then sung. Mrs. Clara Austin, of Philadelphia, presided at the organ, and Mrs. Clara V. Miller, of Pughtown, sang the stanza; as a solo, being assisted on the chorus by a double quartette of members of the family. The hymn will be found on the last page of this pamphlet.

The minutes of the preliminary meetings, as given in the first part of this sketch, were then read by Miss Mary I. Still, of West Chester, Pa.

A few remarks were then made, Joseph Philips urging still more sociability among those present.

Then followed the history of the family by its author, Rev. Owen P. Eaches, of Hightstown, N. J. This was well nigh perfect in its way, and was very well read. As it is published in full here, the reader can judge of it for himself. So well was the history received by the listeners that a universal and most hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the historian. Judge Philips, of St. Louis, supplemented the history with some interesting remarks. He thought that the historian had rather underrated the strength of the family. In Tennessee, his native State, the family is very large. They are Baptists almost to a man, he knowing of but two or three who had departed from the faith of their fathers. Rev. Dr. Tustin also spoke very highly of the history, and hoped to see it in print. After benediction by Rev. Josiah Philips, of North Wales, Pa., the assembly adjourned for dinner.

The dinner was spread on a long table in the adjoining grove, on either side of which the throng gathered, and with an avidity betokening well-sharpened appetites, amid the clash of knives and forks, the good things so lavishly prepared passed from the scene with marvelous rapidity. Such dinners are rarely seen, even in hospitable Chester County, and all the appointments of serving and replenishing could not have been better arranged. Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson deserve great credit for their endeavors to make this occasion such a pleasant one. A great abundance of excellent provisions remained on the tables, and was distributed among the poor of the neighborhood. This important business dispatched, all gave themselves up to social intercourse. Many new acquaintances and friendships were made, old ones were renewed. There, scattered about in little groups under the old oaks, were nothing but bright, happy faces; cheerfulness and pleasure shone from every face, and to many this was the most delightful hour of a very delightful day. At precisely 2:30 P. M. (for the family is noted for punctuality), the company assembled again in the church. "Precious Promise" was heartily sung by the congregation, led by Mrs. Fannie Harley, of Phoenixville, at the organ. Prayer was offered by Rev. Reese Perkins, of Camden, N. J. And again all joined in singing, "Shall We Meet Beyond the River," Mrs. Lucy Brinton, of West Chester, organist. Then came the reading of the letters from the members of the family who were unable to be present. A great many were received, but time would allow only comparatively few of them to be read by the corresponding secretary, Prof. G. M. Philips, of the State Normal School, West Chester, Pa. The letters were intensely interesting, and many were the regrets that all could not be read. These letters would be very interesting here, but space will allow only a few extracts.

"WEST UNION, FAYETTE Co., Iowa, May 5, 1877.

"DEAR FRIENDS:—In reply to your kind invitation to the Philips reunion, to be held at the Vincent Baptist Church in Chester Co., Pa., on Wednesday, May 30, 1877, I must say that it will be impossible to be with you. Gladly would I mingle my voice in songs of praise and prayer with yours to the precious name of JESUS on this occasion, but circumstances forbid this much-desired interview. But perhaps a little of my history might be interesting to some kind friend present. I am the oldest grandson, except two, of Joseph Philips, Jr., who came from Wales to this country in 1755. I am the oldest son of David and Sichey Philips. I was born Nov. 11, 1808, on the farm that Joseph Philips, my grandfather, first settled on in Allegheny Co., Pa., eight miles from Pittsburgh. My grandfather and grandmother Philips, also my father and mother, were members of the Baptist Church of Peters'

Creek, where in my boyish days I often heard my dear old uncle David (grandfather's brother), preach very kind, interesting sermons, while the tears trickled down his and many other cheeks.

When quite young kind Providence forced, I may say, me into the school-room in Ohio, as a teacher. There my dear wife, a little harmless, flaxen-haired child, was one of my pupils. I soon learned to love the work of teaching, and I am sure you will think so when I tell you that I have taught for forty-four years, and am still engaged in this delightful work. I have a very interesting school of earnest workers, at Union Seminary.

I had seven brothers and five sisters, and my dear mother, with thanks to the LORD, said: "I have lived to see all our dear children hopefully converted. I am sure you will all respond, Amen. Grandfather died at the age of seventy-eight, and grandmother at seventy. I have grandfather's family Bible, which is seventy-two years old this day. Strange, I have never taken any medicine from a doctor in my life. GOD is ever kind to me. Enclosed you will find a song of my composing. I have made it a part of my pleasurable employment to compose school songs. I have over one hundred of that character preserved, and we sing more or less each day in school. Our family are all singers. Sing this song, if you see fit, and think of the poor, unworthy poet, and the request contained therein. (See last pages.) I must now leave you. May kind heaven smile upon you; may JESUS be in all your songs, in all your prayers, and may the influence of GOD'S Holy spirit guide us each one in every good work, is the prayer of your far-away friend and well-wisher,

"JESSE PHILIPS."

"UNIVERSITY AT LEWISBURG, PA., May 26, 1877.

"DEAR COUSIN:—I write to say that it is not in my power to be present at the Philips Reunion on the 30th of May. It would afford me much gratification to see the many who will be gathered at the old church at that time. May the day be auspicious, and everything pass off with the utmost of success and gratification to all concerned. Allow me to say that while it is an interesting circumstance that among the Philips descendants there have been so many ministers of the Gospel, it is no less an important fact that there has always been, so far as I know, the deepest interest in education. Quite a number of the graduates of this University, both in the College and the Female Seminary, are connected in various degrees with the Philips family, and others have been in attendance without reaching graduation. I would suggest that if there is to be published anything in the way of history besides mere genealogy, quite an interesting and important chapter might be written on what the Philips family have done in the work of education. Just at the moment there occurs to me, besides the remembrance of the schools which David and Jesse Philips formerly had, the fact that now there are several engaged in teaching in the various grades of our common schools. Then, too, there is Mr. Joseph O. Pyatt, of the Philadelphia Institution for Deaf Mutes, and Prof. G. M. Philips, of the West Chester Normal School, and Mr. Jonathan Jones, Principal of the Mt. Pleasant Institute, and others too that might be named, did time permit. While for myself, if life is spared, I shall have the satisfaction in the ensuing month of closing my twentieth year of connection with the Faculty of Instruction in this University. May the Divine Hand, which has led us along so far, guide and bless you all who may be present next Wednesday; and may His Spirit lead each one of us to consecrate himself renewedly and without reserve to the service of our fathers' God, enabling us in our respective spheres to accomplish the highest good in His cause.

“With love, FRANCIS W. TUSTIN, Prof. of Greek.”

“ BOULDER, COLORADO, May 23, 1877.

“To the Philips Reunion, to be held at the Vincent Baptist Church, in Chester Co., Pa., on May 30, 1877:

“ I would gladly meet with you and clasp hands with my friends, but that is out of the question. Therefore I do the next best thing, viz: write. I came to this place in 1871, when it was but a small village of 400 inhabitants, without railroads or telegraph lines. But we have been prospered, until at present we have a population of about 4000, two railroads and two telegraph lines, splendid water works, etc. This place is just at the foot of the Rocky Mountains, and twenty-five miles from eternal snows. It is surrounded with vast mineral wealth, gold, silver, copper, iron, coal, etc. My grandfather's name was Thomas, who brought up his family in Mercer Co., Pa., where I was born. My father's name is John, who now resides in this place. I have one sister, Mrs. Clarissa Ward, her husband a Baptist minister here. We have a neat little Baptist Church. If any of you should ever stray this far from home, I would be only too glad to welcome you.

"With kind regards to all, I remain truly yours,

"I. MILES PHILIPS."

Communications were also received from Mrs. H. E. Happerset and Mrs. A. M. Osborn, Oregon; Mrs. Elizabeth C. Bryan, Lebanon, Tenn.; John D. Pettit, Washington, D. C.; Mary I. Pettit, Library, Pa.; Jos. P. Tustin, Lewisburg, Pa.; D. A. Philips, Linesville, Pa.; Thos. Tustin, Chicago, Ill.; O. P. Miles, Mt. Carroll, Ill.; J. W. McCallum, Wampum, Pa.; Mary J. Tyler, Brooklyn, Pa.; Jno. M. Philips, Shelbyville, Tenn.; Jno. H. Work, West Chester, Iowa; Jos. Hennans, Wampum, Pa.; John Philips, Boulder, Col.; Mrs. Amanda Jacobs, Baltimore, Md.; Margaret Philips Young, Shop Spring, Tenn.; Nelson Philips, Library, Pa.; J. E. Philips, Rock Falls, Ill. And it is much to be regretted that all of these, to the family most interesting epistles, cannot be published.

Following the reading of the letters came the singing of the hymn, "O Think of the Friends Far Away," which had been composed for the occasion by Jesse Philips, of West Union, Iowa, and was sung to the tune, "Over There," Miss Lottie E. Philips, of Atglen, Pa., at the organ, and the vim given to its rendition demonstrated that the request of the hymn was abundantly complied with. The beautiful words of this hymn will be found at the end of this pamphlet. Mr. W. W. Thompson, Editor of the Daily Local News, of West Chester, Pa., who was present, offered to send free a copy of his paper containing a full account of the days' proceedings to each address given him. As the result of this generous offer two hundred names were given him, and on the following day the papers, containing a very full and excellent account of the meeting, were sent. A collection of fifty dollars to defray the expenses of the reunion was raised. A motion to publish the proceedings of the day, together with the history and the genealogy of the family, was put and carried. Rev. Owen P. Eaches, Rev. Joshua L. Philips, Hon. J. W. Philips, Mary S. Jones, Benjamin L. Pyatt, and Joseph Philips, were appointed to prepare and publish an account of the proceedings. On motion of Judge J. W. Philips a vote of thanks was tendered to the members of the family in the vicinity, who had borne the burden of getting up such a pleasant reunion and such a substantial and agreeable entertainment. Votes of thanks were also tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson for their excellent supervision and management of the dinner; to Mr. Thompson, of the Daily Local News, for his generous offer of copies of his paper; and to the neighbors, who had so kindly conveyed visitors to and from the trains.

According to the programme voluntary addresses were now in order, and these proved to be an exceedingly interesting part of the exercises. These addresses are on separate papers:

1. Rev. Josiah Philips, North Wales, Pa.
2. Rev. Joshua L. Philips, Pittsburg, Pa.
3. Hon. J. W. Philips, formerly a circuit judge in Tennessee, now practicing law in St. Louis, Mo.
4. Rev. Josiah Tustin, D. D., of Philadelphia, Pa.

Prof. G. M. Philips, of West Chester, hoped that the members of the family would cling to the one "l" in their name. Philips is an old Greek name, meaning "a lover of horses," and in the Greek it had but one "l." This is the distinguishing mark of this family, and he urged them to keep up the distinction. Rev. Joshua L. Philips agreed with these remarks; the one "l" also distinguishes his family in Western Pennsylvania.

All persons now joined in singing the Doxology, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," etc., Josiah Eaches, of Phœnixville, presiding at the organ. Rev. Joshua L. Philips then pronounced the Benediction, when the meeting broke up, with many hand-shakes and good-byes, and many regrets that this delightful day was at an end. There were about three hundred people present, the Church being quite full in the afternoon; of these, one hundred and eighty-six signed the roll as members of the family. The following newspapers were represented on the occasion: West Chester Local News, W. W. Thompson; Daily Pottstown Ledger, L. H. Davis; Phœnixville Messenger, S. P. Tustin; Independent Phœnix, of Phœnixville, Philip Harley. These papers all published excellent accounts of the proceedings, those of the first two named being especially full and complete. Besides, all of the neighboring papers noticed the Reunion more or less fully. Great credit is due to those who were active in getting up the Reunion, and it is to be hoped that the delight which every one showed was a recompense to them for their great labors to make it a success. Of the great energy and zeal of Mr. Joseph Philips, of Manayunk, especial mention must be made. Without him the Reunion would probably never have been held, or at least its success could not have been nearly so great as it was. About five o'clock the friends and relatives, loath to leave, slowly separated and wended their ways to their homes, those who had come from Philadelphia returning by a special train on the Pickering Valley R. R. Thus ended, probably, one of the most successful and pleasant family reunions that ever was held. Members of the family gathered from a very wide extent of country to meet about the grave of their common father and mother. That this delightful affair may be repeated, and that he may be present, was the wish of each one upon leaving. And if not, that the whole family may hold one final, everlasting reunion around the throne of God, when not one member shall be missing, is the heart-felt wish of every one of the Philips Family.

The home of our family on the other side was in the southern part of Wales. In the family record of Rev. David Philips we find the proof of this: "Rev. David Philips was born in Pembroke-shire, South Wales, March 26 (old style 1726"). At this time a large number of Welsh people came to this country. The familiar Pennsylvania names of Radnor, Carnarvon, Merion—names of Southern Welsh counties—show the drift. We may imagine that our forefathers with others sailed from the seaport county town of Pembroke. This little province, made up of mountains, barren hills and secluded valleys, has been the birth-place and nursing mother of brave and hardy men. It is a good place to grow men. The tenacity of Welsh character is seen in their holding fast to their mother-tongue. While Ireland and Scotland lost their languages, the Welsh kept fast hold of theirs. "Though many times overrun, Wales was not subdued, and remained a place of refuge for those Britons who fled from Roman rule. Many more fled thither from the invading Saxons, and becoming incorporated with the original inhabitants, formed a people who have in many places preserved their language and customs to the present day."

Joseph Philips, the father of all, was born in Wales in 1716. Of his birth-place and early life we know nothing. It would be interesting for us to-day to know more of the man, of his birth-place, of the life and training of his boyhood. Married to some Welsh maiden Mary—born in 1710—with a home of his own growing up about him, it would be interesting to know what motives caused him to lift his eyes across the Atlantic to these Western lands. It may be "that the records of some old Baptist Church in the Fatherland may yet give a clue to the knowing more of him and his kindred." In 1755, as tradition goes, when 39 years of age, he came to this country with his wife and three boys, David, John and Josiah. In the sailing vessel of those days it was something of an heroic venture to brave 3000 miles of water.

It comes down by tradition that Josiah was a child four years old, in his mother's arms, at the time of this ocean voyage. As Josiah was born in 1751, this would fix 1755 as the time of arrival in this country. This would place the birth of Joseph, the youngest child, in this country. Owen Philips, in his manuscript history of the Philips family, has these words, after reciting the incoming of Joseph Philips and his family: "I might here say that was another son added to the number, Joseph by name."

They landed in this country in dark days. It was the beginning of the seven-year French and Indian War. In 1755 Braddock fell near Pittsburg. The tomahawk flushed in Western Pennsylvania, and a thrill of terror passed through all the commonwealth. George the Second was then on the throne of England; Washington was just coming up into manhood and notice. Philadelphia was a little village of a few thousand people. In all the land there were only 30 Baptist Churches.

The birth of Joseph Philips takes us back almost to the time of John Bunyan, Isaac Newton and the great revolution in England under William and Mary.

The first place of settlement of Joseph Philips was in the vicinity of West Chester. Tradition states that he did not own the place on which he first lived. Subsequently he bought the farm now occupied by Mr. Frederick Bingaman, containing then 63 acres. On this place he built a two-story log house, the first story having one room and a kitchen, the second having two rooms. He was a weaver by occupation, and carried on this business in the unpretentious ways of those times. As the family grew up the business was increased, until there were three shops with three looms in each shop. Tradition gives this recollection of Joseph Philips:

He wore the small clothes of the olden times, buckskin breeches with buckles. His native language was Welsh, which the four sons spoke to some effect. He was of medium height, portly in appearance. The four sons resembled him in this respect, being men of large size. The family lived with the simplicity of the olden times, using wooden trenches at table. A large number of Welsh books were in the family, but they have all disappeared. A relic of china, brought over from Wales, now in the possession of Mrs. Hannah P. Eaches, is all that remains of the old household life.

The father and sons attended the Great Valley Baptist Church, distant 13 miles. On the 21st of September, 1771, 51 persons were dismissed from the Great Valley Baptist Church, and on October 12, 1771, were constituted into a church. Among these were seven of the Philips family, Joseph and Mary Philips, David and Mary Philips, John and Margaret Philips. In 1771 two at least of the sons were married, David and John.

In the Revolution the family, forgetting the ties that bound them to the land across the water, and inspired by that love of liberty that dwells in Welsh blood, took the side of the colonies. It is a matter of honest pride to-day that we can point to Josiah Philips, one of the four sons, as a Lieutenant in the army of the Revolution, and David Philips, the oldest of the four, as Captain in the army of the Revolution. John Philips, another son, was taken captive in the Jerseys and held in confinement in the prison-ship at New York where he was ministered to by his devoted wife. The old swords are rusted, the old uniforms have passed into dust—but the work done by them abides. We to-day are reaping of the harvest sowed by them, and to-day may justly glory in the part our forefathers took in the struggle. It would be a matter of interest to us all to dig out of the Pennsylvania archives of the Revolution the regiments in which they served out their times of service.

Thus far the family lived in the same neighborhood. Now comes the era of separation. Listening to the advice of some ancient Horace Greeley, "Go West, Young Man," David and Joseph turned their faces westward. David Philips settled twelve miles south of Pittsburg, in Washington Co. Joseph Philips settled eight miles south of Pittsburg, in Allegheny Co. Here they lived—here they died—here they were buried.

David Philips, the oldest of the four, possessing deep piety and gifts for pastoral and pulpit work, was called to the pastorate of the Peter's Creek Church. What the man was, though untrained in the schools, is evident from his 40 years' pastorate. His monument is that church to-day. At one time nearly all the members of the church were of the Philips family, either by descent or marriage. He died in 1829. He was one of the pioneer preachers in north-western Pennsylvania. He preached at Sharon as early as 1801. One of his letters to his children bearing date Aug. 9th, 1809, is in the possession of his descendants. It closes with the words,—“May he that dwelt in the burning bush bless you both and your offspring.”

He was a man devoted to his government as well as to his God. He stood by law and order in the whiskey insurrection. When the rebellion had reached its height, amid cries of shoot him! shoot him! mounted on a stump he made a speech urging the payment of the excise. His friends expected every moment to see him fall. But the brave, good man passed through the danger in safety.

His descendants are scattered over Western Pa., Ohio, Tennessee, and westward as far as the Pacific. He had 13 children, none of whom are living. Two of his sons settled in Tennessee in 1797. Rev. J. M. Philips, of the First Baptist Church of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes that the family in that State number 500. The descendants of Martha Philips, a daughter, number 88. It is safe to say that the descendants of David Philips would make a Philips regiment a thousand strong.

Some of the principal branches of this family are named Pyatt, Riggs, McCoy, White, Cook, Bowen, Henson, Hon. John Scott, President of Allegheny Valley Railroad.

Joseph Philips, the youngest of the four living in the same neighborhood, died in 1862. He had five children, none of whom are now living. He was a deacon for many years of the Peter's Creek Church. He also filled the office of Justice of the Peace, having received his commission from Governor Mifflin. In those days the office was one of larger dimensions than at present. The prominent families are Dildine, Higbee and Estep.

Three letters from him to Rev. Josiah Philips, bearing date of 1828-1830, reveal him as a man of large practical common sense, with keen analytical power of mind. The benediction, with which he closes his letters, are worthy of a New Testament Patriarch: "And may the Lord bless you one and all, and enable you to become fruitful in every good word and work to the praise and honor of His great name, through Jesus Christ our Lord."

John Philips, the second son, left the home circle and settled on the old Lancaster road, near Downingtown. He had seven children—three sons and four daughters—of whom none are now living. Some of his descendants were constituent members of the Penningtonville Baptist Church, in the vicinity of which many of the descendants still reside. Some of the principal branches of this family are Pettit, Miller, Young, Chalfant, Chamberlain and Osborn. He died in 1790.

Josiah Philips, the third son, settled on the old homestead. He had nine children—five sons and four daughters. Of the children only one remains—Hannah Philips Eaches. Josiah Philips was a man of deep piety and fidelity to conviction. As Owen Philips writes, "His home was always open for the man of God and the fugitive." He was a man who believed emphatically in a higher life. With him it were, "better that the earth should revolve without an inhabitant than that it were peopled with a race of slaves." He also held some public position—what, it is not known. The only child remaining of this household gives this glimpse of the home life: The daughters all worked out of doors, tending sheep and doing the lighter farm-work. In winter, spinning—making cloth and blankets—filled the months. No carpet graced the floor. He died in 1817.

His oldest son, David, went to Tennessee at the early age of 17, to act as surveyor in that new country for Philip Philips. He was a man of rare ability. A letter from him to Rev. Josiah Philips, dated 1846—postage 25 cents—is full of politics, predicting that the election of Wm. H. Harrison would surely ruin the country. He died at the age of 80.

John Philips, the second son, settled in the same county—Rutherford county, Tenn. A letter from him, bearing date of 1846, is full of theological discussion upon election.

The other children were as follows: Josiah, for many years a minister of the gospel. He died in 1845. His living descendants number 107, divided among the following names: Philips, Brenholtz, Jones, Severn, Dowling, Guest, Griffith, and others. Joseph Philips has 13 descendants living, divided into Philips and Bingamans. Owen Philips has 37 living representatives, divided into Philips, Rapp, Miller, and others. Martha Philips Frame has 27 descendants now living, representatives of Frame, Lungren, Perkins, Smith, and others. Mary Philips Tustin, has 54 descendants now living, chief among which are Tustin, Fussel, Trickett, Dennithorne, and others. Sarah Philips Miles has 40 descendants now living, among whom we find the names Miles, Stitler, Heffelfinger, Davis, Kiter, and others. Hannah Philips Eaches has 17 descendants now living, divided among the names Still, Eaches, and Brinton.

The descendants of Josiah Philips, one of the four, number 295, not including the posterity of David and John in the South.

We estimate the number of the four branches of the Philips family as follows:

The living descendants of David,	1,000
The living descendants of John,	110
The living descendants of Josiah,	400
The living descendants of Joseph,	200

This gives us to-day a kindred of 1,700. If the little handful of 1755 has thus grown, we may sing in 1955 when we celebrate the second centennial—"We are coming, father Joseph, a hundred thousand strong."

The father of us all, Joseph Philips, has been resting a few yards from us for 85 years. His wife, Mary, lies by his side. The men of the second generation are all dead. Josiah and John sleep in this hallowed ground. David is buried in the Peter's Creek Baptist Church yard. Joseph rests in the Bethel Presbyterian Cemetery. Of the men and women of the third generation, only one answers to the roll-call to-day. Joseph Philips died May 18, 1792, aged 76; Mary Philips died December 26, 1792, aged 82; David Philips, born March 26, 1742, died March 5, 1829, aged 87; his wife died October 31, 1840, aged 97; John Philips died May 22, 1790, aged 45; Josiah Philips died March 1, 1817, aged 66; Martha Philips died January 7, 1784, aged 37; Sarah Philips died June 23, 1845, aged 87; Joseph Philips, born November 1, 1754, died September 3, 1832, aged 78; Mary Philips, born July 20, 1746, died January 28, 1817, aged 71.

Of the children of David, none are living; of the children of John, none; of the children of Josiah, Hannah Philips Eaches; of the children of Joseph, none.

One of the characteristics of the family is its longevity. Joseph Philips was 76 years of age when he died; Mary, his wife, 82.

Josiah Philips was 66 at his death ; Sarah, his wife, 87. In every branch of the family we find men and women wearing the honor of threescore and fourscore years. There is a vast deal of life in the Welsh blood.

Another characteristic is the strong religious element in the family. From the first there has been a deep piety giving birth to a rugged morality, at once the beauty and strength of our widespread household. Joseph Philips and at least three of his sons were members of this church. David, one of the sons, was for two score years a pastor of one church. Rev. Josiah Philips, of the third generation, started on a journey of 900 miles, 400 by carriage and 500 on horseback, to win his brother John to the Saviour.

The ministers in the family now are :

In David's family—Rev. T. E. Philips, of New York ; Rev. Joshua Philips, of Pittsburgh, Pa. ; Rev. J. M. Philips, of Chattanooga, Tenn. ; Rev. Bryson Pyatt, of Western Pennsylvania ; Rev. Henry Bass, of Tennessee ; Rev. Archibald Bass, of Tennessee.

In Josiah's family—Rev. Josiah P. Tustin, D. D., of Philadelphia ; Rev. Joseph P. Tustin, of Bloomsburg ; Rev. Prof. F. W. Tustin, of Lewisburg ; Rev. Josiah Philips, of North Wales, Pa. ; Rev. E. M. Philips, of Wisconsin ; Rev. J. P. Philips, of Joliet, Ill. ; Rev. R. W. Perkins, of Camden, N. J. ; Rev. O. P. Eaches, of Highstown, N. J.

Others, to-day, are in training for the work of the ministry. May the mantle of the Rev. David Philips fall upon them all.

In Joseph's family we have Emma, wife of Rev. J. T. Douglass, missionary to Burmah. Others have been adopted into the family by marriage. Among these are Rev. James Trickett, of Alloways-town, N. J., and Rev. Ross Ward, of Boulder, Col.

Deacons for churches we can supply in wholesale.

The family mainly is Baptistic. Rev. J. M. Philips writes, "Of the 500 in Tennessee only two, so far as I know, have departed from the ancestral faith."

Another feature of the family is the gift of song. It is a part of the Welsh nature to sing. Every century of the history of the Fatherland is melodious with the songs of the bards. They find no unworthy successors in the sons and daughters of to-day. The music, vocal and instrumental, furnished at our Family-Reunion shows that the Welsh fire and melody still exist.

Another characteristic from the first has been its intellectual vigor. From 1797, when David Philips taught school near here, to the present, it has been a race of teachers. The Philips family can furnish, and has furnished, by the score, professors, principals, and teachers of all grades. It has furnished Justices of the Peace, Judges upon the bench, members of the Legislature, men filling and adorning the various positions of civil life in the Commonwealth. If there be any truth in the conservation of force, it has been a source of power in developing manhood and womanhood, and contributed its share to building up a Commonwealth of purity, piety, and education.

It is fitting thus to meet the descendants of an honored name near the old homestead where our forefathers lived; near the old graveyard where our forefathers sleep. It is fitting to gather in the meeting-house of this church in the promotion and support of which our ancestors were an integral and important part. An additional fitness is this—Josiah Philips, one of the four sons, married a descendant of Rev. Owen Thomas, the first pastor of this church, himself also a Welshman.

It is fitting on this Decoration Day thus to meet, while the graves of the blue and the gray are decked with flowers, we may decorate the memory of those men of the old Revolution, David, John, and Josiah Philips; we may honor the name of Josiah Philips of the war of 1812; of Thomas Philips, son of David Philips, who served in a cavalry regiment called out by Washington to suppress the Whiskey Insurrection. We may place the chaplet of laurel to-day upon those of our own kinsfolk who died. Among them were Lieutenant-Colonel Thomas Brenholtz, of the Fiftieth Regiment; William Philips, Second Lieutenant First Wisconsin Cavalry; Joseph Work, who fell at Vicksburg; two brothers named Hennan, from Western Pennsylvania. Without doubt others of our blood and bearing our name are sleeping in soldiers' graves.

In the war we furnished colonels, chaplains, officers, and many who kept step in the ranks. A company in a Tennessee regiment was composed almost completely of the Philips family.

It is ours to day to thank God for an intelligent, upright and pious ancestry. It is an honor that comes down to us from the past with the memories of hallowed men and women. In our veins flows no royal blood; but in our hearts is the blood of men of piety, integrity, loyalty to the truth and to God. We may say with Tennyson—

How'er it be it seems to me
 'Tis only noble to be good;
 Kind hearts are more than coronets,
 And simple faith than Norman blood.

It is ours, standing with our faces toward the future, to make the name still more a source of blessing and power. It is ours not to say despairing,

Ah, God, for men with head, heart, hand
 Like some of the simple great ones gone Forever and ever by,— but to make their lives an inspiration for a larger life.

In the past and present the Philips family has furnished men for the pulpit, professor's chair, judge's bench; has filled treasuries, cashierships and positions of trust; it has grown men and women by the score who have done life's duties well and left names without reproach.

"Whatever record leaps to light
They never shall be shamed."

It was a Welshman, Roger Williams, who gave us freedom of soul. It was Welshmen who furnished largely the foundation elements of our county and Commonwealth. It is a Welshman whose memory we venerate to-day. It is ours to thank God for a beautiful past. It is ours, with trust in God, to care for the future.

Now to-day we can say that, so far as is known, not one of the descendants with the blood of Joseph Philips in him has ever been in the jail, the insane asylum, or the pauper house.

We are scattered widely. Some dwell where the old homestead was; others are in the West, in the farthest South, in the mountains of Colorado, on the distant Pacific slope. But our hearts dwell close together as we bow before the memory of our pious ancestors. We have their names as a common heritage.

We greet each other to-day, springing from one ancestor, with one blood beating in us all, with one house on the other side with Jesus Christ our Saviour. We pray that our father's God may be our God. May we build a memorial stone in our hearts and call it Mizpah. "The Lord watch between us when we are absent one from another."

THE FAMILY GATHERING.

*Introductory song for the Philips' Re-union,
May 30th, 1877.*

With thankful hearts and cheerful voice,
And pleasant thoughts—let us rejoice ;
As from afar—or near at hand,
We meet to-day—a family band ;
Within these walls*—where oft before,
We've met to count our mercies o'er.

Cho.—Happy meeting—pleasant greeting,
Tho' the time is short and fleeting.—
Still our hearts are calmly beating—
Waiting—longing—for the meeting.

We gladly look o'er years long fled,
And call to mind the honor'd dead ;
And think how oft the broken sod,
Concealed the lov'd from all but God :
Ah—then we think—and Oh, how sweet,
Before the throne we soon shall meet.—Cho.

And shall we meet beyond the care,—
With love around us everywhere,
E'en as we meet in joy to-day,
From distant homes, so far away ?
Oh, what a meeting that will be,
To part no more eternally.—Cho.

Then let us join in hand and heart,
And bless the Lord before we part,
Whose gracious care and kindest love,
Is guiding us where'er we rove :
Whate'er our lot in life may be,
May each one know "He Leadeth Me."—Cho.

(*Or "grounds" as the case may be.)

O, THINK OF THE FRIENDS FAR AWAY.

Composed for the occasion, by Jesse Philips, of West Union, Fayette County, Iowa.

O think of the friends far away,
So pleasant, so cheering, so true,
Who would love to unite on this day
And join in the union with you,

CHORUS.

Far away, far away, O think of the friends far away.
Far away, far away, O think of the friends far away.

May Jesus, my Saviour be there,
 And indite your petitions for me.
 Let us meet in his name every where,
 That joyful the union may be.—Cho.

Some loved ones have gone to their home,
 And their smiles never more can we see;
 How joyful when Jesus says " come
 To join in the union with me."—Cho.

Come near, blessed Saviour, this day,
 Let our hearts all be filled with thy love;
 When parting, go with us we pray
 To meet our dear loved ones above.—Cho.

THE PHILIPS RE-UNION, MAY 30, 1877.

On the fertile hills of Chester
 Stands an ancient house of God,
 Sturdy forest sentinels guard it
 With an oft approaching nod;
 Shadowed o'er with many tombstones
 Is the verdant graveyard sod.

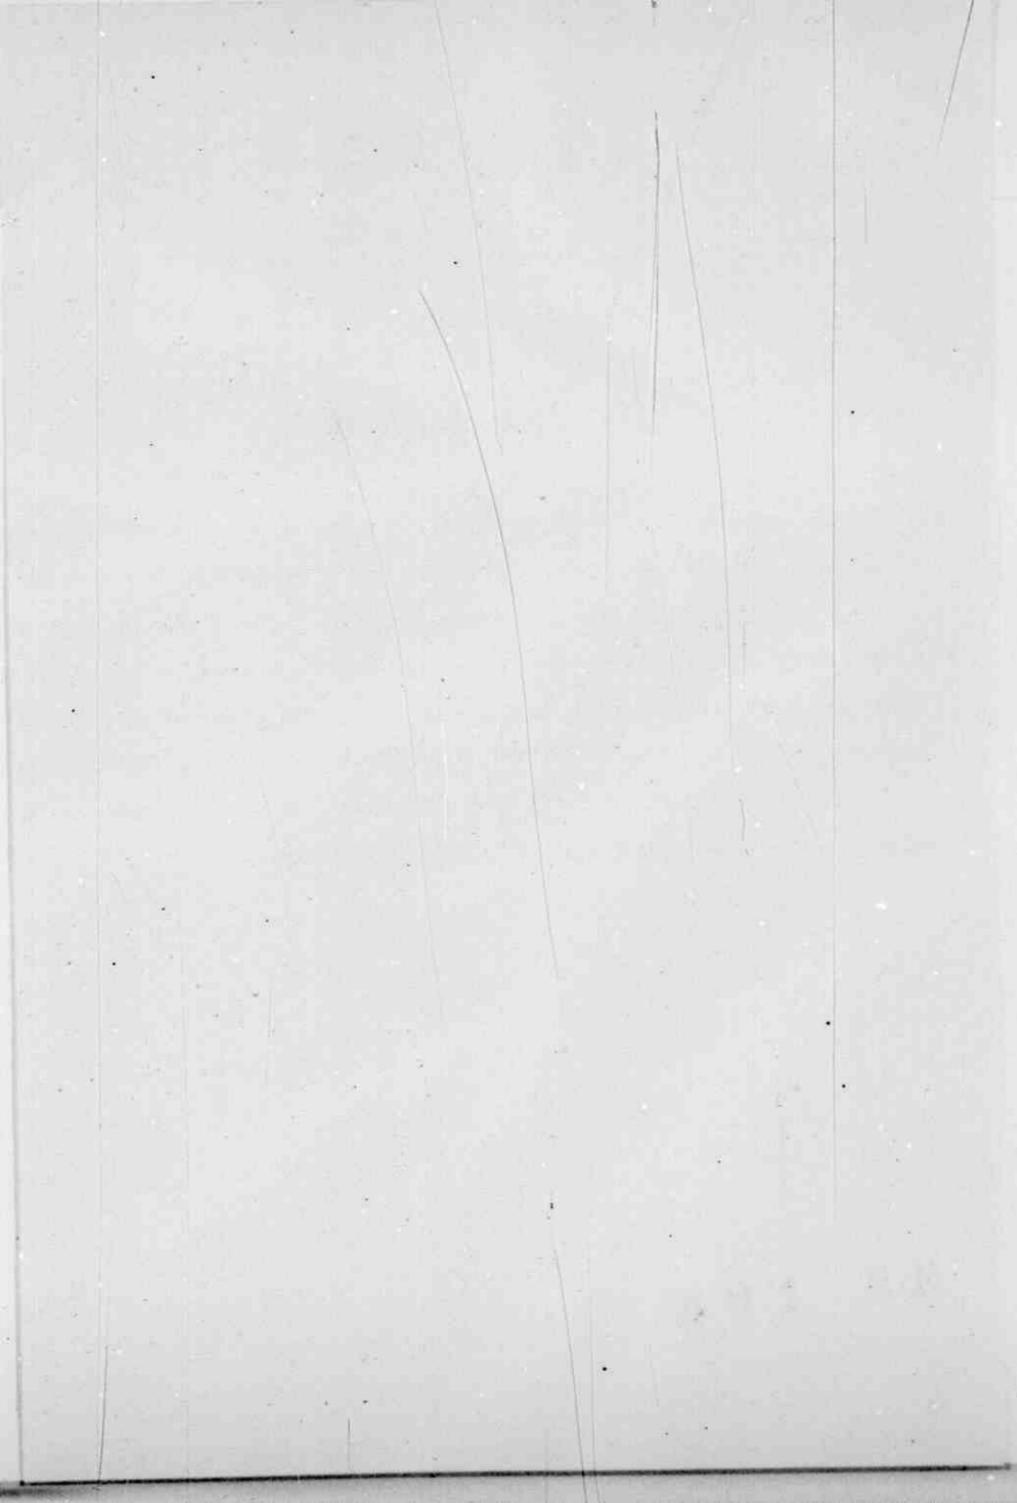

Peaceful Vincent! spot beloved
 By the generations past,
 Hallowed memories reawaken;
 Reunion comes at last.
 Philips hearts are full of brightness,
 Gleams of all the years amassed.

Ecstacy is bubbling over
 On this decoration day,
 As you gather at dear Vincent
 Celebrating kin and May.
 Richly blessed, a noble family,
 Generating joy alway.

Happy, happy tribe of Joseph,
 And the Welsh maid Mary sweet,
 There's a goodly pleasant pathway
 For your seventeen hundred feet.
 Be it ever through God's sunshine
 Till your life-walk is complete.

When you scatter, peace go with you
 North and south and east and west,
 God to his great reunion
 Will recall you when 'tis best.
 Father Joseph, mother Mary,
 In the calm of Vincent rest.

TO THE READER.

Many persons having promised us they would send names of their kindred, we delayed the publication of this history, expecting thus to make it more complete. All mistakes which may be found in the spelling of names must be credited to those who have furnished them, as in several cases the same names were furnished by different members of families diversely spelled. There was also much difficulty in obtaining correct data in reference to deaths, teachers, and preachers; hence the reader must kindly refer errors in these matters to the same source.
